HOUBLON-NORMAN/GEORGE FELLOWSHIPS GUIDELINES (INCLUDING PER DIEMS)

To ensure clarity and consistency in the administration of the Houblon-Norman and George Fellowships, the following guidelines outline key aspects of the programme—including eligibility, fellowship structure, per diem allowances, and operational expectations.

1. Eligibility

- Applicants should be postdoctoral or possess equivalent experience, with a demonstrated ability to undertake independent research in economics or finance.
- Applicants research should focus on an economic or financial topic of their own choice, preferably one that would be particularly beneficial to study at the Bank of England. Applicants are encouraged to consult the Bank of England Agenda for Research. When assessing applications, the trustees will place particular emphasis on the relevance of the proposed research to current issues in economics and finance.

2. Per Diem Rates

- Senior Fellows (defined as tenured, full, or chaired professors): £450 per day
- Fellows: £300 per day
- These rates apply for the entire duration of the fellowship, including weekends (7 days per week).
- Per diems are intended to cover subsistence costs, including travel, accommodation, and incidental expenses incurred while undertaking the fellowship.

3. Exclusions

- Applicants on paid sabbatical and based in London are not eligible for a per diem, as they are not expected to incur subsistence costs such as travel, accommodation, or incidental expenses.
- Per diem allowances do not cover salary costs and should not be viewed as a substitute for remuneration.
- Per diem allowances do not cover the university's indirect costs, such as administrative support, facilities maintenance, or utilities.

4. Claim Process

- Fellows must submit a per diem claim form within 30 days of the month end to ensure prompt payment processing.
- Receipts are not required for per diem claims; however, applicants must specify the exact dates covered by each claim.

5. Caveats

- If you have previously completed a Houblon-Norman/George Fellowship, please note that a minimum gap of five years is required before applying for another fellowship.
- The length of the fellowship is flexible but will normally be no shorter than one month and no longer than one year.
- Per diem payments are capped at a maximum of 365 days, unless exceptional approval is granted in advance.
- Fellows are responsible for ensuring compliance with any tax reporting obligations related to their per diem payments.
